

Nosebleeds

1

Keep your cat as calm as possible so that she does not shake her head or drip blood around

2

If you know that your cat's nosebleed was caused by a bump in the nose or not by something more serious then apply a cold wet washcloth to her nose and then an icepack over it for 10 min on and 15 min off, and repeat a couple times if needed

3

If her nose keeps bleeding for more than 20 min take her to the vet to have her checked out

-  If you do not know what caused the nose bleeding take her to the vet
-  DO NOT apply the ice pack directly to the nose
-  DO NOT tilt your cat's head up to stop the bleeding
-  DO NOT place anything up the cat's nostrils to stop bleeding
-  It is helpful to treat your cat in the bathroom tub or tile floor to ease in cleaning any blood
-  Keep your cat calm and still to give the chance for a clot to form
